III. Old Business

- Motion #5 - That SRSGA approves online voting for 2010-2011 (Tabled)
 - Johnston/Goodge
 - Discussion
 - Cosme – shows example of scantron and online voting forms) You will vote for the executive board first and then resident halls/commuter voting. The main difference is that there is no straight ticket option for online voting
 - Barcio – there wasn’t a straight ticket voting last year and there wouldn’t be any difference
 - Bailey – if we are going to have party initials, could we have a key?
 - Cosme – it would just be a few letters after the name
 - Bonando – should we expect there to be a higher voter turnout with online or scantron?
 - Cosme – voting online is much larger
 - Bailey – when we went to a conference, and we mentioned that we still do scantron voting, we were the only ones still doing it
 - Passes

IV. Open Forum

- George – if you could entertain the CoOp activities today instead of next Thursday, it would speed things up
- Barcio – the senators don’t have enough information in front of them
- Johnston – if you need anything to do for Spring Break, ARC is sponsoring a trip to Florida for $500. You will get to see tons of animals
- Madden – is the price negotiable?

- Johnston - no
- Bonando – I think we need to create a more effective way to when contacting students on the cancellation of classes
- Johnson – why was class cancelled yesterday?
- Foley – at 4:30am, the custodian people were cleaning and we asked why classes wasn't cancelled that morning. They contact Rita and said that campus was clear along with the main roads. From there, it was ok for us to have class.
- Johnson – anything dealing with money?
- Foley – yes but once we miss so many classes
- Barcio – 3000 students live around campus and 2000 live pretty close and they wont cancel class. If you live too far away, you can inform your professor and you should be excused
- Johnston – we have record breaking rider ship on the shuttle bus
- Thorne – there is informal senate today at 8pm tonight
- Hepner – Green and White Fridays tomorrow
